

Pauline Madani, managing director at Nordic Homeworx, infuses her home with Swedish heritage

MY DESIGN
DNA

I am inspired by my husband Amir, a truly entrepreneurial person who always looks for new business opportunities and sees potential even in situations that are not so obvious. I am very proud of the growth that Nordic Homeworx has experienced over the past ten years and our amazing team. I believe that my career serves as an inspiration for my four daughters, as a model for them to set high goals and become strong independent women. I appreciate that the company remains true to the beliefs and values that are strongly linked to my Swedish heritage of quality, design, tradition, sustainability and, most importantly, outstanding and reliable customer service. I live in The Meadows with my husband and our daughters. We enjoy beautiful sunsets and our bespoke infinity pool reflects the JLT skyline and surrounding palm trees. We recently installed bi-foldable doors, welcoming more natural light and bringing the outdoors in. White-washed oak wood flooring, white walls and an open space concept further enhances the brightness of our home. Spending my days in a busy work environment, I really see my home as my haven. The villa is very relaxing, but also fully functional and practical, where I can spend time with my family. Because I work with natural materials, I tend to gravitate towards incorporating various natural and sustainable materials in all aspects of our home. I have two spaces with beautiful Kährs wood floors. On the ground level, we have a rustic white-washed single-strip oak floor, Oak Valois; while we have a typical Swedish three-strip natural oak wood floor, Oak Siena, upstairs. I have always loved Svenskt Tenn, an interior design brand from Stockholm, Sweden. My favourite piece is the Daggvas – Svenskt Tenn's beautiful oversized bubbled glass vase that I fill with fresh flowers. My design icon is Josef Frank, an architect, artist and designer, who has had an enormous impact on Swedish design. His textile designs have become iconic and I have his Vegetable Tree textile as a large framed art piece on my dining room wall. The best advice I can offer is that in order to realize your dreams, never lose sight of your goal; visualise it, talk about it and put positive energy into achieving it. ■
